EMPIRE CONFEREES HEAR CANADA'S OFFER

Form Nazi Groups In Nordic Lands For New Alliance

Hitler's Efforts Directed Toward Union to Deal With Slav and Latin Nations; Reports Say Break Perhaps Coming Between Von Papen, German Chancellor, and Hitler

Move to End German Rioting

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Berlin, Aug. 4.—The prospect of a serious break between Chancellor von Papen's government and Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, over the recent bloody riots in Germany was intensified in the rightist press to-day.

This was coupled with evidence that Hitler was spreading his organization efforts into other European countries, and planning a powerful Nordic European alliance.

The ultra-rightist Boersen Zeitung said the government was considering a smashing emergency decree to end the rioting, in practically all of which Hitler's Nazis and his storm troops have had a part.

That the decree would meet opposition from Hitler's forces was indicated by William Kube, head of the powerful Nazi delegation in the Prussian Diet. Kube severely criticized Chancellor von Papen, Minister of Interior Baron von Geyl and Franz Bracht, Prussian dictator, for what he said was an attempt "to sabotage the Nazi election victory."

As a result of Hitler's international negotiations, Nazi parties fashioned after his have been founded already in Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, and are laying the foundations of a future foreign policy in prospect to result in a bloc of racially related nations to pursue a common policy in relations with the Slav and Latin nations.

The Berliner Tagblatt, powerful liberal paper, to-day said the Reichstag would not be called in session until August 30, the end of the thirty-day period allowed by the constitution after an election.

President von Hindenburg and members of the present cabinet, it said, intended to keep the cabinet functioning without any outspoken partisan character.

Kube indicated the Nazis, who hold by far the largest membership in the Reichstag, would be willing to share government responsibility, but share power in no mood to temporize.

"The tremendous National Socialist victory," he said, "must not only bring a new order of things in the Reich, but also in Russia."

"We refuse to be dictated to by the tarnished centrists."

New York, Aug. 4.—The stock market here surged up to the best average levels since early April in further successive waves of buying to-day, but the advance was interrupted by intermittent waves of profit-taking and by early afternoon some of the extreme gains of $2 to nearly $6 a share had been cut in half.

Stocks At New York Continue To Gain

Another Day of Growing Confidence Recorded; Part of Gains Lost in Afternoon, But Net Advance Reported

New York, Aug. 4.—The stock market here surged up to the best average levels since early April in further successive waves of buying to-day, but the advance was interrupted by intermittent waves of profit-taking and by early afternoon some of the extreme gains of $2 to nearly $6 a share had been cut in half.

Around the best levels the market, as measured by price averages, registered the extraordinary advance in quoted value of about 50 per cent since its June 1 low, which had again been duplicated in early July. Recent market history records nothing approaching this percentage gain in an equal period of time.

Allied Chemical rose nearly $6 to $69.25, then fell off to about $66. American Telephone rose $4 to cross par, $100, for the first time since May 1, then fell back to around $98. U.S. Steel rose more than $2 to cross $34 for the first time since April 16, then lost much of its rise.

In Wall Street it was learned a plan was being considered by leading New York banks for forming a corporation which would extend funds to individuals and companies for increasing their raw material inventories. Governor Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board, it was said, had made the proposal to bankers here and to the Young committee of bankers and industrialists formed a few months ago to expedite credit expansion and business recovery.

Such a company, it was understood, would represent part of a plan for stimulation of business. Another phase of the proposed "reconstruction" activity, it was reported, would be to

And as far as the information bureau was concerned, he was forced to keep on wanting it.

Krishnamurti Meditates At Shawnigan Lake

Hindu Philosopher, Once Hailed as Messiah, Seeks Solitude Here

Jeddu Krishnamurti, the Hindu philosopher who attracted the interest of millions when Mrs. Annie Besant and her Theosophists hailed him as The Messiah, is to-day spending his time in rest and meditation at the Shawnigan Lake summer cottage of Mrs. M. King, 285 King George Terrace.

Krishnamurti, a young man with a face of great beauty and dark, contemplative eyes, renounced all material claims in 1929 when he disbanded his Order of the Star Lodge in the Ojai Valley, California, openly declared he was not what Mrs. Besant would have him be and became simply a religious teacher and philosopher.

Krishnamurti, his secretary, V. C. Patwardhan, and Dean R. G. Tyler of the University of Washington, arrived on the Sidney ferry yesterday afternoon. Dean Tyler organized and took charge of the Moran School, Seattle, where Krishnamurti gave lectures all last week.

Cabinet Clash on Coalition and Kidd Report Await Attention

Premier Toile will leave Ottawa for Victoria on Saturday, exactly seven weeks from the day he commenced his visit to the east, according to an announcement of the Premier's impending departure from Ottawa received this morning at the Parliament Buildings.

Many serious problems will await the Premier when he returns to his overflowing desk last next week. Not the least important will be decision upon the manner the Cabinet will deal with the Kidd report. This matter has been touched with tender fingers by cabinet members during the Premier's absence, and it is expected that the announcement of decision will be thrust upon the Premier's shoulders.

Discussion among party leaders in regard to formation of a coalition government will be among the first matters to receive his attention, according to remarks he has made at Ottawa. Whether he will suppress his personal feelings, and agree with the influential section of the cabinet now favoring coalition, is one of the matters awaited with keen interest by cabinet members, as well as the rank and file of the Conservative Party.

SLOGANS PAINTED ON DUBLIN SIDEWALKS

Dublin, Ireland, Aug. 4.—Dublin awoke this morning to find that during the night someone had gone about the city and painted anti-British slogans on the sidewalks of nearly every street.

Irish Delegation Negotiating For Series of Agreements With Dominions

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Great Britain will open trade negotiations to-morrow with South Africa. It will be the same type of conference as the one held yesterday with Australia and to-day with India.

Great Britain will confer with each Dominion individually in an effort to determine common ground for trade agreements.

South Africa will attempt to increase Empire markets for meat, dairy products, fruit, maize, sugar and tobacco. The delegation will make a special bid for the chilled beef trade of Great Britain, now largely held by Argentina.

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Conversations between the Irish Free State and the other Dominions are continuing at the Imperial Economic Conference here, and the expectation to-day, as voiced by a member of the Irish group, was that tangible bi-lateral agreements would be reached within a few days.

The Free State was negotiating with South Africa and Australia, and had made "contacts" with Canada, the Bankers and City of Toronto matches, Lieut. S. Johnson, Calgary, and was one point higher than that of Lieut.-Col. C. G. Gibson, Hamilton; Lieut. G. Matchett, Hamilton.

Dominion Government's Proposals, Presented to British at Imperial Conference in Ottawa To-day, Offers Certain Additions to Free List

BRITISH PROPOSALS IN REPLY AWAITED

Wheat, Meat, Dairy Products, Metals, Cattle and Fruit Are Canadian Exports Embraced in Discussion

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Canada formally submitted its offer to Great Britain to-day at the Imperial Conference here. The delegation offers additions to the free list and is ready to give a wider spread of preference as between British and foreign goods.

Canada's offer, it is calculated, would involve $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 more British goods each year for Canada. The goods are now largely bought from foreign countries.

What Canada asks from Great Britain in return figures out at approximately the same amount.

Goods included. British goods covered by the Canadian offer include iron and steel, anthracite coal, certain lines of textiles—although, it is understood, textiles are not heavily involved, because the Canadian textile industry is regarded as one entitled to reasonable protection—brass products, certain lines of leather goods, electrical supplies and automobiles.

Iron and steel figure largely in the trade which Canada offers to divert to British channels. Last year Canada imported $200,000,000 worth of iron and steel largely from the United States. Only 10 per cent of these imports came from the United Kingdom, and last year was a depression year. Canada's normal imports of iron and steel run at $550,000,000.

Delegations Say Rumors of Disputes and Unfriendly Relations at Ottawa Conference Without Foundation

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 4.—The British delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference has assured the Canadian delegation it does not consider Canada is holding up the conference. This statement was made officially to-day by newspaper men at a press conference.

Attention was drawn to cable reports of items appearing in certain British newspapers, which stated the proceedings were being delayed by Canada.

No one was holding up the conference, the press was informed. Inevitably, as conversations between the different delegations developed, matters arose which had not been foreseen. These sometimes required looking into. But that did not mean delay on the part of any delegation.

Esquimalt Evidence Goes To Government

Decision on Charges Against Police Chief Hodnett Deferred For Week

Two Beer Parlor Operators Swear Chief Asked For Money

Evidence taken by the Esquimalt Police Commission, in its investigation into charges that Chief of Police C. Delmar Hodnett had asked two Esquimalt beer parlor proprietors for donations towards his holiday expenses, should be placed before the Attorney-General's Department for any action it may see fit, Reeve Albert Head yesterday evening announced, at the termination of public proceedings at the municipal hall, which were attended by a large audience of Esquimalt ratepayers.

The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday, August 10, at 7:15 o'clock, to enable a transcript of the evidence to be placed before the commissioners. The next session will be held in committee, with the municipal solicitor present to analyze and advise upon the evidence.

Yesterday evening's proceedings were held to permit presentation of an affidavit by Thomas James Brunson, proprietor of the Esquimalt Hotel, supporting evidence he had given personally on the preceding evening. Before it was read Sydney Child, counsel for Mr. Brunson, explained the declaration had not been made for use at an inquiry.

Mr. Brunson's affidavit was made before W. J. Cave, J.P., on July 19, 1932, and stated "That in the committee room on Esquimalt Road, Esquimalt, B.C., on Saturday, June 25, at between 12 and 1 o'clock, Mr. D. Hodnett, Chief of Police, asked me if I could assist him in any way on his holiday by giving him some money. He did not mention any particular sum but said the 'joker' promised him $50 and asked me if I could see my way clear in helping him.

"I told him I would see him again. "Since then I have spoken to him on two or three occasions but nothing further was mentioned about it."

An affidavit made by Thomas Henry Hodgson, proprietor of the Coach and Horses Inn, was the only other documentary evidence before the commission. The affidavit was presented at the Tuesday evening session of the inquiry. It was made on July 19 before C. K. Courtney, a commissioner for oaths, and was as follows:

"On June 25, at about 12:45 p.m., I was approached by Chief of Police D. Hodnett, who stated that he was constable of the municipality of Esquimalt and he asked me for a gift of $50 and informed me he had seen the proprietors of the other beer parlors in the said municipality and they were each going to give him the sum of $50. He stated that he required this money for the purpose of taking his holiday."

CONSULTANT CALLED
Following the reading of Mr. Brunson's affidavit the commission ordered John E. Day sworn, the witness having been subpoenaed at the instance of R. C. Lowe, counsel for Chief Hodnett. Reeve Head explained that Mr. Day was one of the two big businessmen Mr. Hodgson had testified had advised the beer parlor proprietors to make affidavits. The other was Major Angus, who was out of town and could not be served with a summons.

Mr. Day testified that he had participated in conversation with Messrs. Angus, Hodgson and Brunson, at the beer committee rooms, but was not sure of the date. The conversation had been about making affidavits, that the police chief had asked both parlor proprietors for money. He did not personally suggest making the affidavits and could not recall who had first mentioned affidavits.

On another day he had met them at the brewery, he was not sure of the time, but the conversation had been on the same matter as the affidavits. Asked whether Mr. Angus had recommended affidavits be made, the witness said he could not recall such advice being tendered and doubted whether Major Angus had done so. Mr. Hodgson was called to the witness stand by Reeve Head and told him the police commissioners knew Hodnett had asked the beer parlor proprietors for money. A grave statement correct? If so, which members of this commission had you told of the matter?

Mr. Hodgson replied: "Brunson must have understood me. What I said was 'The public knows it is common knowledge.' He positively denied having mentioned that any members of the Police Commission had knowledge of the charge against Chief Hodnett."

SPECTATOR EXCUSED
H. A. MacLean, K.C., counsel for Mr. Hodgson, desired to call a witness named Cook. Reeve Head demurred, stating "Cook has been present all through this inquiry. He should have retired if he had any intention of giving evidence. If only in fairness to Chief Hodnett. It is right that I should inform my fellow commissioners that Cook has told me, at various times, that he had grievances against Chief Hodnett. He also told me that he intended to be a candidate for the Police Commission at the next election, for the sole purpose of discharging Hodnett. However, it is up to my fellow commissioners as to whether they wish to hear Mr. Cook."

Mr. MacLean then withdrew his request that Mr. Cook be called.
More than an hour was devoted to hearing evidence by counsel. Mr. MacLean based his remarks upon a plea that the police department should not be permitted to become an instrument for blackmail. He alleged that Chief Hodnett had been using his position in discretion by attempting to induce beer parlor operators to pay him very considerable sums of money. "In these hard times men would not contribute towards Mr. Hodnett's holiday expenses unless they felt that it would be unfortunate for them if they did not do so," he asserted.

Mr. MacLean considered that Chief Hodnett's testimony, to the effect that he had been in the company of Hodgson and Brunson, that he had talked of shortly going on his holiday and that there had been some talk about widows and orphans, was confirmatory of the two complaining witnesses. "Brunson thought that talk meant 'contribute to my holiday expenses.' He knew he was being 'lapped' for money, anybody would know it," counsel argued.

"All were loath to do anything to arouse the enmity of a man having the power vested in this officer. Patton says Hodnett did not approach him, but there was talk of widows and orphans and he agreed to come. I submit there was no getting away from it. When you get to this stage, when you find this man acting in a highly improper manner, you cannot expect to get stronger corroboration," Mr. MacLean concluded.

CERTAINTY CHALLENGED
Assertion that the charge was not supported by a sufficient degree of certainty featured Mr. Lowe's defence of Chief Hodnett, for whom he claimed the benefit of doubts the commissioners might entertain. He considered the statements of the beer parlor operators to be unsupported. The alleged requests were said to have been made by person impersonating to action by a spirit of good citizenship, he practised grounds for believing that such requests for money had never been made. "Had Hodnett really canvassed the beer parlor proprietors, he would have spoken to both together," he suggested.

Mr. Lowe pointed to Brunson's admission that the chief's reference to "widows and orphans" had been made in a joking manner and stressed several weeks elapsed between the date of the alleged request for money and the date the affidavits were made out. Such a delay would not be practised by a person impelled to action by a spirit of good citizenship, he argued. Counsel recalled that Mr. Hodgson had given the impression that the affidavits had been made on the advice of two big businessmen, yet the witness had said he testified he knew of no such advice being tendered the beer parlor operators.

Chief Hodnett asked for this money for a holiday, we find him going away, saying nothing further to Hodgson regarding this money gift, although he called on Hodgson prior to his departure to announce that Constable Peckhold would carry on. Hodgson says he cannot remember that call," he commented.

"I say that, from the start to the finish of this case, there is not present that degree of certainty necessary. In fact, it is just the other way, the certainty will be transcribed and a cent of this charge," he concluded.

Police Commissioner J. E. Painter Jr. asked Mr. Hodgson "If Chief Hodnett had not demanded payment of that tobacco license fee, would this case have proceeded?"

Before replying Mr. Hodgson asked whether the case was closed and was told by Reeve Head that the commission was eager for all facts which might assist in making a correct decision, but the witness need not answer if he preferred silence.

Mr. Hodgson stated that the affidavits had been made out long before the chief demanded payment of the municipal tobacco license and he believed the charges were to be proceeded with.

KEVE'S STATEMENT
Commissioner S. R. Bowden moved the commission go into committee, whereupon Reeve Head read the following statement:

"In connection with this inquiry all evidence has been submitted under oath and has been taken down by a court stenographer under oath. This evidence will be transcribed and studied by this commission before any decision is arrived at."

"In connection with the remarks of Mr. Hodgson, I stated that he would take the lid right off any conditions in Esquimalt and his particular mention of the fact that there was unfairness in the collection of tobacco license for one, and speaking as the Reeve and also as chairman of the Police Commission, would welcome any inquiry into such a state of things, so as to either prove or disprove the charge that such a state of things exist."

"I think, myself, that a copy of this evidence should be submitted to the Attorney-General's Department for its information and any action the department may see fit to take."

The meeting then adjourned until next Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock.

Discussion With British Delegation at Ottawa Conference to Be Resumed Tomorrow

By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Discussions opened yesterday between the British and Australian delegations at the Empire Conference failed to result in agreement. It is understood the discussions will be resumed to-morrow.

Immediately after the Anglo-Australian discussions looking to the conclusion of definite trade agreements, previous talks, both in Ottawa and in London before the conference opened, explored the ground in the present discussions, definite offers on both sides have been tabled.

The fifth conference committee—made up of representatives of the two countries—was appointed: one to investigate minimum requirements for standards of agricultural products and another to inquire into industrial co-ordination. "Satisfactory progress" was reported by the sub-committees on standardization and procedure.

INCREASE IN MINING SALES
Toronto, Aug. 4.—Though base metals lost some of the ground gained in the forenoon upthrust, advances predominated at the close of today's session on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market. Total sales showed a substantial increase over the previous session.

International Nickel retained its gain in a strong manner, closing nearly 1/2 above last night's final. Noranda was up 45, Falconbridge 20, Sudbury Basin 10 and Sherrett and Amulet around 5 each. Hudson Bay ran into some selling with small loss.

Among the golds, Dome firmed 10, Ventures 4 and Northern Canada, Howey and Barry-Hollinger recorded smaller gains. Granddug and Eldorado lost a fraction. Eldorado was off a few cents under light pressure but Nipissing moved up 15 and the rest of the group advanced another point. Homestead, Meridian and Sarnia finished up a cent in a firm-closing session.

But London Papers Say World Economic Assembly's Programme Too Narrow

London, Aug. 4.—Acceptance by United States of the invitation to the forthcoming world economic conference brought editorial expressions of satisfaction in the London newspapers. It was tempered with regret that certain topics, including specific tariffs and international debts, had been ruled out.

The Express, after enumerating the excluded topics, said: "This leaves prohibition, baseball and the weather." "The participation of the United States is the vital fact," said The Telegraph.

The Herald welcomed the acceptance as "extremely satisfactory." "A world conference that excluded all consideration of tariffs would be a complete absurdity," The Herald said.

TESTIFIES IN MURDER CASE
Mrs. Keith-Miller Describes Tragedy at Trial of Capt. Lancaster

Miami, Fla., Aug. 3.—The tangled and tragic love affairs of Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, with Captain W. N. Lancaster, former British army flyer, and Haden Clarke, young writer, were recounted on the witness chair by her yesterday in Lancaster's trial for the murder of Clarke.

She expressed confidence in the innocence of Lancaster, whom she said she had "always intended to marry" during their five years of intimate association, and said Clarke had often threatened suicide.

She declared Lancaster's reaction to information that Clarke had taken his place in her affections while he was away, as a "sudden snap" leading to the murder, and that he had planned to kill himself so she and Clarke might collect $1,000 insurance on his life as a "wedding present."

That plan, she continued, was abandoned when Lancaster learned the insurance company had failed. She said he told her he would end his life in such fashion as to make it appear a flying accident.

She admitted Lancaster and Clarke had quarrelled at the dinner table the night of Lancaster's hurried return here upon being notified of her plan to marry the young writer, but she said they apparently patched up their differences upon Clarke's agreement to a month's postponement of the wedding.

The quarrel arose, she said, when Clarke admitted the flyer's charge of unfaithfulness to her while Lancaster was away. Lancaster had left the two here together to work on a story of Mrs. Keith-Miller's life for publication under her name. She said she was left in love with Lancaster when he left.

Her voice shook as she told of the apparently amicable settlement of the quarrel and of all three going to bed, she in the bedroom and the two men on a sleeping porch.

She said she locked her door because "Haden told me he did not want to come in to see me and I did not want to see him."

A few hours later, about 2 a.m., she added Lancaster rapped on her door to tell her Clarke had shot himself. She said the shooting was done with the only weapon in the house, one brought back from St. Louis by her flying partner.

Mrs. Keith-Miller told of hiding one of the two men until later than both found with the body. It was addressed to her. The other she left on a couch despite Lancaster's suggestion that they both be destroyed. She said she said "I am not a murderer" and that he had been forced by Lancaster, who told her he did it "because he thought scandal might affect my name if the notes were discovered."

SAYS PACKERS WANT TOO MUCH PROFIT
London, Ont., Aug. 4.—Because meat packers and middlemen have been unwilling to accept less than 100 per cent profit on their transactions, Canada, and particularly Ontario, has lost the European export market, in the opinion of E. W. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, expressed in an interview here.

He explained how the huge amalgamation of packing houses has practically eliminated all competition in buying and the farmer receives only a few cents for his product, while the packers and middlemen, he said, and as a result a European market has fallen and dwindled.

"The loss of the foreign market is not the fault of the farmers but the packers and middlemen," said Mr. Fairbairn.

FARM BOARD HOLDINGS
Washington, Aug. 4.—Farm Board officials said to-day it now controls approximately 24,000,000 bushels of wheat actually available for cash sale. The announcement was made in response to reports reaching the capital that the board to-day would issue a statement announcing all of its cash wheat had been disposed of.

The wheat available for sale is exclusive of the 45,000,000 bushels appropriated by Congress for distribution through the Red Cross to the nation's needy. The board also controls between 2,000,000 and 30,000,000 bushels of wheat futures.

NO ILL-FEELING
Ottawa, Aug. 4.—The United Kingdom and Australia are conducting Imperial Conference negotiations in the friendliest relations. This statement was made in official circles yesterday in connection with the official statement of denial.

British newspaper comments, written before Premier Bennett submitted his proposals to the Ottawa Conference to-day, were reported as follows this morning by the Canadian Press:

London, Aug. 4.—"Mr. Bennett has a name for putting his cards on the table," said The Manchester Guardian in an editorial to-day. "He has lost no time in putting them on the table at Ottawa, but face downwards, where they have stayed while every other country has explained itself in a less spectacular and distinctly speedier way."

"It may be," observed The Guardian, "that Mr. Bennett still does not know more than the world what his cards are. He has lost no time in putting them on the table at Ottawa, but face downwards, where they have stayed while every other country has explained itself in a less spectacular and distinctly speedier way."

"The London News-Chronicle described the situation at Ottawa as extremely disturbing. 'Mr. Bennett is still refusing to disclose the details of his offer made with such solemnity at the opening of the conference. Australia has definitely tabled her proposals, and the spectacle of Mr. Bennett shuffling uneasily on a box which the Canadian manufacturers apparently refuse to allow him to open.'"

THREE-DECK TARIFF
The London Daily Mail asserted the needs of the dominions and the United Kingdom would be met best by a system of three-stage tariffs, "of which the lowest would be for empire goods to which free entry could not be given, the intermediate stage for foreign countries conceding in favourable terms, and the higher for foreign states refusing us any concession."

FACES CHARGE OF MURDER

Associated Press

Winston Salem, N.C., Aug. 4.—Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds and Albert Walker were indicted by the Forsythe County grand jury to-day for murdering Smith Reynolds, Libby's young millionaire husband.

His declaration was made in a debate that preceded the Senate's adoption of a resolution urging the government to reopen negotiations immediately with Britain with a view to settling the land annuities dispute which recently plunged the two countries in a tariff war.

STATES VALERA'S REPUBLIC VIEWS
Minister of Posts Tells Irish Senate of Republic Hopes

Dublin, Aug. 4.—Senator Joseph Connolly, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, told the Senate yesterday evening creation of an Irish republic was a policy of President Eamon de Valera, and that Great Britain could not hope to get its war debt considered by the United States "so long as this question remains unsettled."

President de Valera told a mass meeting at Limerick last week he was not going to waste any more time in "fruitless discussions" to secure arbitration of the dispute, for which he said he saw little chance of solution.

The resolution was introduced by J. C. Connelan, farmer leader, member of the opposition majority.

Leave us within the British Commonwealth of Nations," Senator Connelan said. "It is Ireland's only hope of salvation."

The policy of the Valera government, replied Senator Connolly, was one of creating an Irish republic—including the six northern counties of Ulster—and that, he declared, would remain the policy of President de Valera until it was achieved.

Prusoff Extended In Tacoma Tennis
Tacoma, Aug. 4.—Wallace Scott, Tacoma, was unable to overcome the steadiness and court strategy of Elmer Griffin, New York veteran, in the feature men's singles match of the Pacific Northwest tennis tournament yesterday, succumbing in a bitter three-set battle, 3-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Frank Prusoff, Seattle, also was extended in his quarter-final match with Merle Moore, Arizona champion. After losing the initial set, 6-3, Moore piled up a lead in the second set. Here Prusoff rallied and captured six straight games to win.

When Washington Police And Bonus Army Remnant Fought

What was left of the Washington bonus army was homeward bound to-day on the outskirts of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, where medical investigators had warned of a menace of pestilence and disease. The picture above, which came most of the way to The Times by telephoto, gives an impression of the scenes which marked the eviction of the men from government property in Washington. A battle of brickbats was in progress when the camera clicked, catching, among other things, a policeman's cap in the air (centre), a man at the left menacingly waving a length of gas pipe, and a conflict, right centre, for possession of a United States flag.

R. CHAPIN NEW U.S. SECRETARY

Succeeds R. P. Lamont As Head of Commerce Department

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 4.—President Hoover yesterday received and accepted the resignation of Secretary R. P. Lamont of the Commerce Department and immediately appointed Roy D. Chapin of Detroit, chairman of the Hudson Motor Car Company, as his successor.

Mr. Chapin, who was born February 23, 1880, graduated in arts from the University of Michigan and in November, 1914, married Miss Inez Tiedeman of Savannah, Georgia. There are five children.

Mr. Chapin has been identified with the automobile business in Detroit since 1901. He was general sales manager of the Olds Motor Works from 1904 till 1906. He organized the E. R. Thomas-Detroit Company in 1906 and stayed with that concern till 1908. He was treasurer and general manager of its successor, the Chalmers-Detroit Motor Company, from 1908 till 1910. He became president of the Hudson Motor Car Company in 1910, retaining that post till 1923, since when he has been chairman of the board. For years he has been a director of the First National Bank, the First National Company, the Guardian Trust Company, National Garages, Detroit Garages, the Detroit Aircraft Corporation, Curtiss Aircraft Inc. and North American Aviation Incorporated.

Gold boardings in India are such that no one can accurately estimate the amount. The common estimate, however, sets it at more than $5,000,000,000.

Three children lost their lives, but, chiefly through efforts of the recipients of the medals, seven others were saved with difficulty.

DUCE GIVES VIEWS ON WAR

Associated Press
Rome, Aug. 4.—War is exalted by Premier Mussolini as giving "the seal of nobility to peoples" in his concluding exposition of Fascism for the Enciclopedia Italiana, which was published yesterday in his old newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia. Perpetual peace, the Premier says, is impossible. His dictum of democracy is this: It is a failure more tyrannical than tyranny.

"Fascism, as it generally regards the future and the development of mankind and apart from consideration of present policies, does not believe in the possibility of perpetual peace," the Premier writes.

Il Duce reaffirms the doctrine that the state is supreme.

His discussion of religion is brief: "Fascism is not indifferent to religion in general, or Italian Catholicism in particular. The state does not have a theology, but a morality. Religion is not only respected, but defended and protected."

PILES

ENDED WITHOUT CUTTING OR SALVES

If you think a surgical operation is the only way to get rid of itching, bleeding or protruding Piles, it's because you haven't heard of the harmless internal medicine discovered by a prominent western physician.

After years of study, Dr. J. S. Leonard found the cause of Piles to be internal congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins flabby; the bowel walls weak; the parts almost dead. Right away the doctor set to work to find a real internal remedy. He succeeded, and after treating it for 1,000 patients, without loss in over 900 cases, he named his prescription HEM-ROID.

The doctor wants every Pile sufferer to benefit by his discovery, and so there will be no doubting or delay. McFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores and druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end Piles in any form.

So why waste time on external treatments or think of an operation when HEM-ROID tablets are guaranteed.

DOCTORS FIND "FLEAS" ON GERMS

Bacteriologists Discover These May Aid in Disease Control

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—Disease germs, like dogs, have tiny fleas whose bites sometimes turn the bacteria into raging destroyers and some drug them into harmless ones.

Discovery of certain profound effects of these bacterial fleas has been reported to the society of American Bacteriologists by Dr. F. D'Herelle of the School of Medicine of Yale University.

The bacterial pests do not merely drive disease germs berserk, but somehow alter heredity so that a different species of bacteria develops. The new species may be either more dangerous or less so than were its parents.

Dr. D'Herelle's discovery suggests the possibility of controlling bacteria by breeding, provided it can be ascertained what kind of flea bites will rob disease germs of their virulence.

The proper scientific name of the fleas is phage, which means eaters. Dr. O'Herelle discovered the existence of phages in 1918. They are invisible to the most powerful microscope. Dr. O'Herelle believes they are living things. Some scientists doubt this and hold that they are some sort of chemical having a powerful affinity for bacteria.

The rate of growth of a single bacterium has been measured by Dr. Stanhope Bayne-Jones and Dr. Edward P. Adolph of the University of Rochester School of Medicine. A single germ is placed on the point of a cone of food, and its motion picture taken at the rate of twenty to thirty views per minute for several hours.

TROOPS END MINE SIEGE

Men Who Imprisoned Sixty-five Workers in Indiana Pit Disperse

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 4.—Union pickets early to-day abandoned their two-day siege of sixty-five workmen at the Dixie Bee coal mine as 820 Indiana national guardsmen moved in and established military control over the district.

Four wounded miners, without medical attention since Tuesday afternoon, when they fought a pitched battle in which one picket was killed and four injured, were brought to a Terre Haute hospital.

The picket line, its strength variously estimated at from 500 to 300 men, faded into the darkness as a detachment of guardsmen rushed to the mine at midnight to remove the injured. One of the workmen was struck by four bullets.

Haggard from their vigil against possible attacks by the riflemen encamped about the mine shaft, the non-union workmen said they believed the arrival of six national guard planes late yesterday saved their lives. Pickets appeared to be preparing to rush the mine, they said.

New Discovery Lures Prospectors

Calgary, Aug. 4.—Large silver deposits have been unearthed just north of Mile Lake, on the Bonanza property in the Great Bear Lake country of the north, where rich discoveries of minerals, including radium ore, are drawing thousands of prospectors.

Word of the discovery was made known to-day by the Canadian North Mining Corporation, whose property adjoins that where the silver was located. Officers of the firm said the strike removed all doubt regarding the value of their own claims. They said it was the largest silver strike made in the area.

TAG DAY FOR RESCUE WORK

Salvation Army Will Appeal to Public Saturday

Urgent need for maintenance funds with which to carry on the rescue work of the Salvation Army in this province, has resulted in decision to hold a tag day in the downtown area on Saturday.

On all major street corners, Salvationists and friends will seek public assistance for the work of the army in bringing aid and comfort to British Columbia girls. During the past year ninety-seven rescue cases have been received and cared for in the province, bringing the total for the last four years to over 500 unmarried mothers cared for.

The wonderful success that has attended this work in all parts of the world has been a great encouragement to Salvation Army workers, and it is a phase of the work that meets with the commendation of thinking people everywhere.

In recent years the Army tag day has proved to be one of the most popular appeals, and officers of the organization hope that this year a good response will be met with. A good number of taggers have volunteered their services and Adjutant Sharp, the financial organizer, asks that any other who can help will kindly phone Empire 8046.

BOY HONORED FOR BRAVERY

Wilfred Pendray, Saanich, Awarded Humane Society's Certificate

Before several hundred people at the opening of Mount Douglas playground and the new road yesterday evening, Wilfred Pendray, fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pendray, Saanich, was honored for a deed of bravery in life-saving at Swan Lake early this year.

The boy was presented with the Royal Canadian Humane Society's Certificate for saving the life of Charles Brewer on February 3.

Reeve William Crouch made the presentation, adding to the full police report of the act, a tribute of glowing commendation for the youth.

"We all appreciate acts of bravery or sacrifice by anyone," he said. "And when we leave this earth the only things we can take with us are the things we have given away, our sacrifices and deeds of kindness. I'm sure your parents must be very proud of you, Wilfred."

A hearty burst of cheering greeted the presentation.

The report of the accident, read by the reve, stated that on February 3 the boy, Charles Brewer, was walking over the ice of Swan Lake when he went through a thin spot into deep water. Young Pendray heard his cries for help and immediately rushed to the place, securing a long stick which he pushed out to him. By means of the stick he kept the other boy afloat until further help came. He risked his own life in crawling out to the edge of the ice hole. Brewer had gone down twice when Pendray reached the spot.

The testimonial of the humane society stated it was awarded for "prompt action and presence of mind" in saving the youth.

The matter was brought before the Saanich Police Commission by Chief Allan Rankin and reported to the humane society.

Establishment of an orphanage and convalescent home in the Victoria district by the Order of Buffaloes will be discussed at a convention in the near future between the Pride of Victoria Lodge, the Esquimalt group and Vancouver lodges.

Dr. Charles Espley, Sir Knight Jordan and Sir Knight Mackie will represent the local lodge at the meeting and a concerted effort will be made for the successful termination of the proposals.

Operation of these institutions is one of the major activities of the Order of Buffaloes which have extended over a period of many years. The story of the Buffalo Order resolves itself into two epochs, the ancient and the modern. The ancient is the period before the Grand Lodge of England was established; the modern is the period afterwards. There are few records of the ancient, but the modern era, when those in authority had a difficult task, but succeeded in bringing the Buffalo Order to its present high position.

When, where and how the order was established will probably always be a matter of controversy, though there is a generally accepted theory that it was born at the Swamp Tavern, Rensell Street, London, England, in August, 1822, and was derived from a social club. The first Buffalo lodge was held in this tavern and has been stated many times that the life of the order was from the time of the flood and in one of Pierce Egan's works, "Finish of Life in London," it states that Buffaloes was formed by an eccentric young man of the name of Joseph Lisle, an artist, in conjunction with W. Sinnett, a comedian, to perpetuate, according to their ideas, that hitherto neglected ballad of "We'll Chase the Buffalo."

Since that time the Buffalo Order has never ceased to grow. Its lodges are not confined to England, but operate in every country in the world, with a membership of something like 16,000,000. Its activities are great, based on the motto "Truth, Justice, Philanthropy." It is not in the general sense a benefit society, but teaches brethren the necessity of exercising the virtues of charity and affability and inculcating the principles of brotherly love among them.

The object of the order is by means of small, voluntary contributions, initiations and fines, to be in a position to give immediate relief to brethren in pecuniary difficulties.

FIRST ORPHANAGE. Members from all lodges, in the year 1897, supported the general secretary, who fostered the idea of having a Buffalo orphanage. This brother was successful in his efforts and the first Buffalo orphanage opened in 1898 at Aldridge, England. In 1911 the Lord Chief-Justice was duly elected to the fourth degree of Buffaloes and later opened the new wing of the orphanage.

Another interesting development in 1911 was the inauguration by the Hull Buffaloes of the poor children's dinner fund, which in its first year gave a total of 5,000 little children, and after five years had fed over 40,000 children, at a cost of over $15,000.

During the war the Buffalo Order had eighteen ambulances, worked on the battlefields and they were driven by Buffaloes and purchased from the Buffalo funds. Gentlemen from all walks of life, from the highest to the lowest, are members of the order. To be a member one must be of high moral standing, but it does not interfere with religious or civil duties.

The order has numerous convalescent homes for the use of its members and families. It has also sent thousands of dollars to St. Dunstan's Hostel for blind soldiers.

Lodges are held in towns of all countries, aboard ships and in airships. When the airship R 101 met its doom over France, 75 per cent of those aboard were Buffaloes. The lodges usually hold a meeting once a week to conduct business and after that has been dealt with a programme of music is rendered.

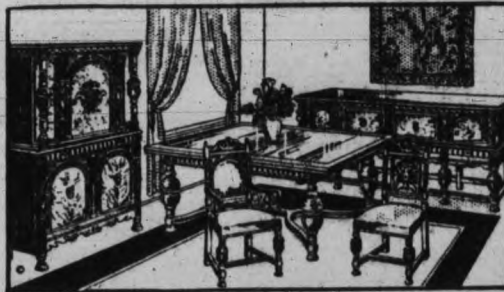

When children of Buffaloes are admitted to orphanages they do not have a standard uniform, but instead they wear their ordinary clothes so that no one knows they belong to an orphanage. They are educated in the highest and put to any trade they like so that when they are old enough to go out into the world they will be able to get good positions.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS. A district camp will be held at Burgoynes Bay, Salt Spring Island, from August 6 to 20.

Third Victoria, and St. Saviour's troops will assemble under troop arrangements on Saturday morning, August 6, and will leave in time to catch the 9:30 ferry from Swartz Bay to Fulford Harbor. St. Louis College troop and the Cathedral Choir troop will assemble, also under troop arrangements to catch the 9:30 ferry on Monday morning.

Visitors' days will be Saturday and Sunday, August 13 and 14, when all parents or others interested in scouting will be welcome.

MACDONALD'S EYES IMPROVE

London, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press) —Premier Macdonald's physician and oculist saw him to-day, announcing afterward that the condition of his eyes was quite satisfactory and that he had benefited greatly from his holiday in Scotland. Mr. Macdonald returned to London yesterday from a holiday at Lonsdalemouth. The cabinet met to-day.

Tanks were first used in warfare by the British.

AMY JOHNSON ON MARRIAGE

Does Not Intend to Cook For Husband Nor Hamper His Career

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 4.—The sentiments of Mrs. J. J. Mollison, formerly Amy Johnson, on marriage as she has given them to the London press, are a curious mixture of ancient and modern. While glad she has found "a man whom she can look up to," she declares that she does not intend to cook for him, or hamper his career in any way. Nor does she expect him to hamper hers.

"I live for flying," she told one interviewer. "So does he. Our marriage will be ideal. We respect individuality too much ever to seek to cramp each other's careers. Domesticity has no delights for me. Neither does Jimmy enjoy the prospect of a fireside and slipper existence. We are both restless pioneering spirits. I hate cooking and loathe housework."

Apparently Amy could have married all sorts of unsexing people. She has had lots of proposals, many of them from men whom she had never seen. They made it clear that they would be quite content with the position of "Mr. Amy Johnson," she says. Amy apparently will be quite content with the position of "Mrs. Jimmy Mollison."

PIONEER WOMAN DIES IN TACOMA

Tacoma, Aug. 4.—(Associated Press) —Mrs. Margaret Cabana Gardner, eighty-three, who was born at Sequim, Washington January 1, 1849, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Selma Kuhn, at Loveland, near Tacoma.

Mrs. Gardner was married to Moses Gardner, a close friend of Ezra Meeker, in Victoria, B.C., April 4, 1864. They moved to Seattle when it was a village and in 1870 they came from Alki Point to old Tacoma by rowboat. Mr. Gardner taking the household goods in one boat and Mrs. Gardner their three small children and a quantity of clothing in another. The trip was made in one day. Later that year they moved to a homestead near Yelm, and there reared their seven daughters and three sons. Mrs. Gardner also raised three orphan boys and helped rear four grandsons.

Less Women Than Men in Canada

ON HONEYMOON TOUR BY CYCLE

Young Couple, Wed Seven Years Ago, on World Trip
Coming Here Soon After Visiting 24 Countries

Tokio, Aug. 4.—(By Ferry Whiteing, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) —A young couple who are now in the seventh year of their honeymoon journey around the world, are expected to arrive in Canada for a leisurely trip across the Dominion. They are Mr. Frans Hecker and his wife, Ernestine Hecker, who left Munich, Bavaria, on August 26, 1925, a few days after they were married, and have been traveling ever since, by bicycle. They have just arrived in Tokio, from Nagasaki and Kobe.

Their most pleasurable experiences throughout their whole trip so far, Mr. Hecker said, have been in India, but they are looking forward to enjoying a trip through Canada, and spoke enthusiastically of what they have heard of its wonderful scenery—at its best in summer for travelers such as they are, they think. They also expect to tour parts of the United States.

Though their travels so far have been replete with encounters with brigands, wild animals, head-hunters and obstinate officials, the young couple thirst for more adventure, and they are hoping to be able to obtain a seaworthy motorboat by which to cross the North Pacific, skirting Hokkaido, the Kuriles, the Aleutians, Alaska, and the West Coast of Canada.

Failing a motorboat, they hope to get hold of a motorcycle, with which to see more of Japan, and then use it, after crossing the Pacific by steamer, to continue their rambles in North America.

IN TWENTY-FOUR COUNTRIES
After leaving Bavaria, the Heckers cycled through twenty-four countries before reaching Japan—Austria, Italy, France, Belgium, Spain, Portugal, Serbia, Roumania, Albania, Greece, Bulgaria, Turkey, Syria, Mesopotamia, Persia, Beluchistan, Burma, Siam, Federated Malay States, Java, Bali, Celebes, Philippines and China.

They learned six languages—Turkish, Arabic, Greek, Spanish, Italian and English—while doing this, the latter during the two years they spent in India. They expect to be another two or three years on the road before they return home. Then they intend to write a book describing their decade of travel, and also to give lectures. While traveling they support themselves by such means as they can earn and help they receive from friends.

ATE MONKEY STEW
During their journeys, the Heckers have eaten monkey stew, been eaten by leeches, captured by brigands, chased by Bulgarian frontier officials, dined and taken on tiger hunts by an Indian rajah, and ordered out of Persia because the bride wore no veil. Japan they have received many kindnesses from country people, as well as from German and other foreign residents.

Woman Attacked By Black Squirrel

Canadian Press
Chatham, Ont., Aug. 4.—Attacked by a black squirrel in her garden here, Mrs. Sara Maggs was terribly bitten about the arms, hands and back yesterday. The squirrel, chased by Mrs. Maggs, jumped from a tree on to Mrs. Maggs's back and kept chewing at her until neighbors, drawn by the woman's cries, squeezed the animal to death.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THE FEWER CLOTHES THE BETTER FOR SUMMER

When Mrs. F. H. tells me that her baby is perspiring all during the night and that his pillow and gown are wet with perspiration from morning until night, I would like to ask her two pertinent questions. "Why the gown, and why the pillow?"

During hot weather the use of anything but a diaper on the baby is unnecessary. Clothing adds nothing to baby's comfort, and when it is so clearly a cause of distress, it should be discarded without hesitation. There is not half as much danger of the baby's taking cold without clothes, as there is when he lies bathed in perspiration. Not only is he losing water from the tissues at a serious rate, but any unexpected wind that blows upon his damp skin puts him in a condition to suffer a sudden chill.

PILLOW UNNECESSARY

The pillow is put there because his mother thinks the baby ought to have one, not because baby craves these hot feathers under his head. An adult can turn the pillow about, from one hot side to the other, or move away from its damp indentation. But not the baby. There he lies, plastered to a heating, dampish object that can't be pushed away from his hot head.

Up about the fifth year most children sleep very comfortably on a good mattress, covered with a smooth sheet, even if under this sheet there will have to be a rubber sheet or a piece of old cloth and over that a felted mattress pad. They roll about easier, thus changing their position at will, and the absence of a pillow to a child who has never known one is just like any other pleasure which is still in the future.

BUMPS, TOO

The above baby, whose woes were largely of his mother's making, was suffering also from what his mother designated as small bumps. "Bumps" is such an all-inclusive term that any diagnosis without a look at them, or baby or his surroundings, would be futile. Such decisions must come from a doctor right at hand.

But it is safe to say, Mrs. F. H., that your baby's diet is overloaded with starches and minus all fruits, a serious omission. You did not mention the type of milk. The bumps might be caused by the diet, in which case they would be called hives, or might be from insect bites of many kinds.

MILK ALONE

As baby is past weaning time, put him on whole milk. Boil the milk. Skim some of the cream if it is unusually abundant. Screen the house against all flies and insects. Keep only a diaper on him day and night. Do away with the pillow and gown. Give cereal twice daily—oatmeal is not the best choice for summer—and no food between meals. Give orange juice or the juice of ripe tomatoes twice daily.

Dab the bumps with a solution of water and baking soda, and if they do not disappear rapidly, ask the doctor. You may have my leaflet called "Treatment for Common Summer Annoyances," which is helpful in dealing with some of the rashes and bites suffered by children in summer. Just a self-addressed, stamped envelope should accompany your request for this leaflet.

To-morrow: "Child's Contrariness Is Natural Phase of Growth."

MISSER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

The mission of the first course in any meal is to stimulate and whet the appetite. In summer, particularly, such a course is needed because the heat tends to take away our desire for food.

Ice cold bouillon of jelly-like consistency is a welcome dish on a hot day. Fruit in the form of a cocktail, soup or appetizer also is popular for summer meals. Chilled fish cocktails, vegetable appetizers and vegetable fruit cocktails all make inviting beginnings for hot weather menus. Carefully seasoned and thoroughly chilled, these first courses invite one to forget the weather.

Whenever it is possible to serve a cold concoction in a well of ice, so much the better. But if this form of service is not convenient, keep the food on ice until ready to serve. Always chill the service container before filling it with the mixture.

Fruit is refreshing and zestful served in one of its many forms. In making a fruit cocktail be sure to cut fruit neatly in small pieces. Crushed or broken fruit is much less inviting than firm perfect sections. If the mixture is served as an appetizer do not cover it with crushed ice. This harms the flavor and is not a really effective method of chilling. Chill the fruit thoroughly before cutting and serve at once.

Jellied consommé is delicate for hot summer noons or evenings. Highly seasoned, it stimulates the appetite much as the hot soup does. Jellied tomato bouillon is appealing with its tart piquancy. It should be quiveringly firm but not stiff enough to hold its shape. A too-stiff jelly is unappetizing.

Crisp shavings are a good accompaniment for any jellied soup. And radishes and celery can be served with anything but a mixed vegetable soup. Canned soups, bouillon cubes or freshly made stock can be used for jellied soups. Instead of long cooking and fussing over meat bones, try using gelatin for the thickening agent. This makes a jellied soup very easy to prepare.

Extra salt and pepper are needed for iced bouillon, since very cold foods have a tendency to dull the taste. In the case of fruit cocktails, use care in sweetening, for a too sweet concoction defeats its purpose and slops rather than invigorates the appetite.

To-morrow's Menu
Breakfast: Baked apples, cereal, cream, minced ham on toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon: Ice bouillon, salted crackers, macaroni baked with cheese.

AL JOHNSON makes candy glass windows

WALTER ROBINS furnishes racing stuff

Just back from a chat with "Pat" Jones . . . Every once in a while I run over to see "Pat" and check up on his curiosities . . . "Pat" is one of the colony's purveyors who deals in wagons, buggies, sulkies, or what have you, of all ages and stages, just as do Charlie Flores and the Curly Eagles Stables . . . whether it's a scene along the Thames embankment or the land-rush in "Cimarron," you can safely bet the rolling stock was furnished by one of them.

Just another way of making money in Hollywood . . . Studios can't afford to keep a lot of props piled up against possible use, and find it cheaper to rent than to store it . . . Joe Weisberg is more ambitious, for he has his lookouts all over the world picking up odd and unusual pieces of furniture. You see some of his furnishings in almost every picture, especially if there is a period angle to it.

He tried extra work for a time but gave it up when he discovered that he had no source of wealth. It was his candy expert . . . manufactures it into plate glass windows so they can be broken without danger . . . and also he is strong on making up candy bottles to be smashed over someone's head . . . a little chocolate syrup in the bottle furnishes the blood.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCaffrey started a business at least originally. She secures all sorts of material from newspapers ranging from murder to customs of the Siberian weevil and she's in constant demand by the studios, for her information is authoritative and she can give you the low down on anything you want to know in five minutes . . . and time means money when a picture is being shot.

Hollywood is noted for its famous cooks. Send for Robert Grandon, in care of this paper, for an illustrated leaflet, Favorite Recipes of Famous Stars. Enclose three cents with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Flat Tire

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

The next day it wasn't so hot. That is the next day after Uncle Wiggily had put on his winter suit to make fun of his friends who were always talking about the hot day.

"I think," said Mr. Longears, as he twiddled his pink nose, "that I shall get out my automobile and take a ride. I haven't had an automobile adventure in a long time."

"I hope you have a jolly one," said Nurse Jane, who was standing a couple of feet away from the dust fall off the legs.

"Thanks," said Uncle Wiggily. "And I hope you have no flat tires," said Mr. Longears.

"That is very kind of you," spoke her husband. "I don't like flat tires when I'm out in my auto."

In a short time he was ready to start. His auto was rather a queer one, but it was the kind all rabbit gentlemen used. It had a turnip for a steering wheel and whenever Uncle Wiggily felt hungry as he was riding along he just nibbled the turnip.

The tires were made of bologna, fat bologna sausages. And whenever Mr. Longears wanted to ride fast he sprinkled black pepper on the sausages. If he wanted to go extra fast he used red pepper instead of black, as that is very hot stuff.

"Good-by," called Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane to Uncle Wiggily as he twisted the turnip and steered his auto down the road.

"Good-by," he answered. "I'll be back after awhile."

So he rode on and on over the fields and through the woods, up hill and down hill. It was a lovely day. The trees and bushes were green and a soft wind was blowing.

All of a sudden, as Mr. Longears was riding along, he heard a sharp hissing sound.

"Goodness! I hope that isn't a snake!" murmured the bunny uncle. "I don't like snakes though they like me." He looked over the side of his car but could see no snake. Still the hissing sound was heard louder than before. And then the auto began to go bumpity bump.

"I think I must have a puncture," said Uncle Wiggily. He stopped his auto, got out and looked at the two front wheels. The bologna sausage tires there were round and fat. Nothing the matter with them.

"Nothing—do you understand? You must go to New York. You must travel. You must have freedom and you must be with those who understand."

"I'll do anything you say," he assured her eagerly.

"Ah—you are a dear boy!" From a radio in a nearby apartment came the strains of a waltz. It was softly played, melodious. As the song reached the chorus the violinist took the melody, sent it forth throbbing as a lover's plea. The rhythm of the music caught at the senses. The song reached its climax, ended on a high note.

Dan looked at his watch. "Why, it's almost midnight!" he exclaimed. "I had no idea it was so late. Cherry will be sure I've been murdered."

"It is for Wellington," Dan told her with a grin. "Anyhow, I'll have to dash along. Are we going to be able to work to-morrow?"

"I'm not sure," Miss Vail told him. "You can telephone me at noon."

"She always spoke as though anything another person did for her was a favor to herself. Somehow Dan admired her for it. It made her seem very sophisticated, very much a part of that outer world."

"I'll call you about one o'clock," he promised. "And I hope you'll feel better in the morning."

The door closed after him. Brenda Vail crossed the room with a determined stride. She took another cigarette from the box, lit it and dropped comfortably to the davenport.

"Ha! Ha!" she said to herself, "but useful—and amusing!" Cherry sat on her knees surveying the stretch of yellow cotton cloth. It was spread on a floor before her and laid on in curious fashion were oddly shaped pieces of yellow tissue paper.

There were lines in Cherry's forehead. "Now I wonder," she said aloud, "if that can be right?"

Since there was no one to answer the question went without reply. Cherry took up the scissors and began to cut around the paper pattern.

It was her first experiment in dress-making. Mrs. Moreau had been making house dresses and had promised Cherry that she might use her sewing machine. The pattern was one of those labeled "For beginners." Cherry had read the directions half a dozen times but the result of her work, as it lay before her, was more puzzling than any problem she had ever encountered in school days.

She was laboriously she cut around the last bit of paper. The sections of cloth did not seem to look like much but when Cherry held them up she thought she began to understand how they fitted together.

She was gathering up the last of the strips of yellow cloth when a key sounded in the lock. Cherry scrambled to her feet.

"Goodness, Dan, I didn't know it was so late!"

The young man looked down at the floor. "Say, what's going on here?" he demanded. "What in the world?"

Cherry laughed. She held up a long piece of cloth. "My new fall outfit!" she said. "How do you like it?"

"Well, it doesn't look like much to me. What's the idea?"

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

"It is a great life," the woman assured him. "And it is what you should have, Dan. For to write you must really know life. You must have experiences—adventures if you want to call them that. You must see something of the world. Oh, you have talent—I am sure of that. But you need to develop it."

"It's wonderful of you to be so encouraging," Brenda Vail put a hand on the young man's arm. The faint odor of mince, heady and pungent, came to his nostrils as she moved.

"You must let nothing stand in the way of your work," she told him. "Nothing—do you understand? You must go to New York. You must travel. You must have freedom and you must be with those who understand."

"I'll do anything you say," he assured her eagerly.

and we can pick up somebody at the office for a game of bridge. Or we might see a late movie."

Cherry shook her head. "No, I guess I'll stay at home."

"But why don't you come? You said you'd been in the house all day. It would be good for you to get out."

"Cherry was not to be persuaded. 'You go,' she said. 'If Mrs. Moreau's upstairs I'll go up and talk to her. I'd like to have her see if I've cut that dress out the way I should.'

Ten minutes later Dan was gone. Cherry hesitated before she finally took the folds of yellow cloth over her arm and went upstairs to wrap on the door of the Moreau's apartment. Why should she feel jealous of Brenda Vail, this woman who was almost a stranger? What did it matter to Cherry if Dan spent so many evenings with Miss Vail? They were writing a play—the play that was to make Dan known to the world as a talented author.

"I should be grateful," Cherry told herself. "She's doing what I can't for Dan—helping him make a name and a place for himself. It means everything to me, too. Money. The sort of life we've dreamed of. Happiness! Dan could never be happy with things as they are now. He's too ambitious. Oh, I should be glad Miss Vail came to Wellington and glad she was staying!"

Somewhat, although she told herself all this several times, she could not quite believe it. Not a single thing had happened to plant in Cherry's mind the seed of jealousy and yet the restless, troublesome thing was there.

Dan did not come home early that evening or the next. He told Cherry enthusiastically that at last the play was progressing. Two acts were almost completed. The third, which was to

 Allen and Roberts were much excited as the "Sister Sue" steamed into the harbor. Now they were about to set foot on Bermuda, chief island of the Bermuda group. Roberts came up to Captain Thompson and said:

"Well—I hope so! This working all day on a new boat and then trying to keep up with Brenda Vail nights isn't so easy. Anyhow, let's forget about the play to-night. I don't want to even think about it."

"Then we'll forget it!" They sat down to dinner. Dan talked about a medical discovery reported in the day's news. He mentioned the fact that Max Pearson had been offered a new job and was undecided about taking it. Dan had discouraged him.

"Maybe it's selfish," he explained. "But I hate to think of old Max going away."

It was later while Cherry was putting up the last of the dishes that the telephone rang. "I'll answer," she told Dan and a moment later added, "It's for you!"

Cherry had recognized Brenda Vail's voice.

CHAPTER XXXVII
 Dan put down the telephone. "I'm sorry," he said. "Guess I'll have to see the Caseys some other night. That was Brenda calling. She's just had a new idea for the ending of the first act."

Wants me to come over and rewrite what we did last night."

"Couldn't it wait until to-morrow?" "Why, Cherry, I can't very well ask Brenda to wait. It's a big opportunity for me, you know. It's not every author who'd be willing to collaborate with a person entirely unknown. If she wants to work on the play to-night I think it's up to me to be there."

"I suppose you're right," Cherry said slowly. "You'd have to go."

Dan disappeared into the dressing room. A few minutes later he was back, pulling the ends of his tie through to make a neat knot. "Listen, Cherry," he said, "why don't you come along with me?"

"You mean go with you to Miss Vail's?"

"Sure. Maybe we'll be through early be the last act, was going to be difficult to handle. There was so much about the mechanics of writing for the stage of which he was ignorant. Brenda seemed to know, though. If the play really "clicked" the credit would be Brenda's.

"She's great!" he assured Cherry with glowing eyes. "Brenda knows life. She's as different from the sort of people you meet around here as day is from night."

It was on such occasions that the green-eyed goddess asserted itself. Cherry would remain silent to keep the bitter thoughts from her lips. Dan did not seem to notice how much of the time Cherry was silent.

There were evenings Dan did not spend working with Brenda. Occasionally Miss Vail had other engagements. Once some friends came for her and drove her to town fifty miles away. She spent two days there, returning to tell Dan that she had been horribly bored. She managed, without saying so, to convey the impression that the time had been dull because she had missed understanding companionship.

There were other evenings when Dan had assignments or was busy at the office. He telephoned to Cherry on a night when he had been working late. It was almost nine o'clock.

"Listen, honey," he said. "Max and I are going to stop for you in fifteen minutes. Can you be ready? It's a grand night and we're going to drive out to a new barbecue place on Stewart Road. Better have a coat—it's cool out. Yes, we'll be there in fifteen minutes. Twenty at the latest!"

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Husband Finds Wife's Plan to Find Antagonistic Mother Another Home "Unreasonable"—Dorothy Dix Urges Too-strict Parents to Remember Their Youth and Relent

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is ideal, everything that is kind and generous and fine, and we get along beautifully together until his mother pays a visit. Then trouble begins. My mother-in-law has been a splendid mother to my husband, helped him in every way, and he adores her. And she has helped us when we were in hard luck and needed it, but she criticizes everything that I do. She does not like the way I cook, or my clothes, or my friends, or the way I raise my child, and she wants to make all over again to suit her taste. This has been bad enough when we only had occasional visits from her, but now she has lost her money and wants to come and live with us, and I feel as if I would go mad if I had to spend the balance of my life with her.

I work outside the home and would gladly contribute my wages to pay her board somewhere else, but I feel that I cannot live with her. My husband considers this very unreasonable. What do you say?

A DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

Answer—I think that your plan of providing your mother-in-law with a comfortable boarding place is the only sensible solution of your problem, and that if your husband is wise he will agree to it. Otherwise it will mean that he will be torn in two between the two women he loves best, and that is the most agonizing fate that can befall any man.

For both of them are right and both of them are wrong, and it would take more than a Solomon to hold the scales of justice even between them, even if justice was what they wanted. Which it is not. Each wants him to champion her side, and whichever way he decides he will have to hurt one who is dear to him and whom he would gladly spare.

It seems to me that one of the greatest advances in intelligence that has been made in recent years is our coming to see the wisdom of breaking up discordant families and realizing that no good purpose is achieved by forcing people who are temperamentally antagonistic to live together under the same roof where they do nothing but irritate each other.

Perhaps it is some survival of tribal custom that made us think that it was somehow a reflection on people who stood in a certain blood relation to each other, not to live together. Especially was it a scandal for an unmarried woman to leave her father's house unless she went to her husband's, and it was worse than a scandal if parents did not go to live with their children when they got old or were left widows or widowers, and the result often was a merry hell in which people fought like cats and dogs, in which parents and children frequently came to actually hate each other and in which in-laws wrecked the homes of their sons and daughters.

Now we perceive how unnecessary was all this domestic strife. Girls who cannot get along with their mothers go off and set up a little apartment with some girl and come to appreciate mother's many virtues when they do not have to endure her daily nagging. In-laws keep their own homes and go to live in nice boarding houses or hotels and get along beautifully with their children's husbands and wives when they are not thrown in daily contact with them, and all goes well.

There is no use in telling you to bear patiently with your mother-in-law's continual fault-finding because it is not in human nature to stand it. Nor is there any reason why you should be unnecessarily martyred. Nor is there any use in telling your mother-in-law that as long as she is a guest in your house she should hold her tongue and not interfere in your personal affairs. No woman can run a house for thirty or forty years without getting bossy and thinking that her ways are the only ways. Young people sometimes reform. Old people never.

So there you are, and, as Mr. Cleveland once said, it is a condition and not a theory that confronts you, and the only sane and sensible way out is the one you suggest. That you provide comfortably for your mother-in-law and do not try to live under the same roof. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of sixteen. My parents think that I am too young to have dates with boys and will not let a boy come to the house. They will not let me dance, or go swimming if there are boys along, or go out riding if there are boys in the car, or do any of the other things that girls and boys do. So I have no friends and am very lonely. Do you think my parents are right in the way they treat me?

Answer—Perhaps it is because it is vacation time, when all the other boys and girls are having good times, that makes it seem particularly hard for a girl to be cut out of all the fun, but in the last week I have literally had hundreds of letters that are practically duplicates of this one. They all tell the same story of overstrict parents who cannot realize that the girls that they have always thought of as mere babies have grown up and have reached the time when they are entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and, to a certain extent, at least, to follow the customs of their own day and generation.

It is easy to understand the parents' position. They have heard so many lurid tales of flaming youth that they think of the girls and boys of to-day as an abandoned set of young hellions who spend their time in indulging in disgraceful orgies, and they picture the modern world as a sink of iniquity filled with nameless temptations, and they are determined to protect their little sweet lambs as well as they can and keep them safe within the home fold.

But, in the first place, fathers and mothers are unduly alarmed. The modern girls and boys are pretty much what girls and boys were in their days, and what they do is apparently much worse than it really is. Beach pyjamas may look wicked, but they are no more wicked than an old-fashioned skirt, but modesty in clothes is a matter of custom and not of fact. A South Sea Islander with a string of shells around her neck and a hibiscus flower in her hair is as fully dressed according to her standards as grandma was when she had twelve starched petticoats. Riding in an automobile at sixty miles an hour is really, when you come to think of it, no worse than jogging along behind old Dobbin-used to be.

As for temptations, the world has always been full of them and they are the same old assortment. There has not even been a new one invented since the triangle in the Garden of Eden. There has always been drink and women and love and passion and the lure of the primrose path. Every girl and boy that ever lived have faced these and stood or fallen according to the strength that their parents had bred in them.

And as for keeping children unsponsored from the world, it cannot be done. They have got to live in it. Mother and father cannot always hold them by the hand and protect them, and so the sooner they learn to stand alone and fend for themselves, the better off they are.

Parents may well remember also that this age is a forcing house in which everything comes to early maturity, and that girl of sixteen or seventeen or eighteen is as old in reality as her mother was at twenty-four. There are no more ingenuities. Every little flapper is like Lady Kew's daughter, who was forty years old and had heard all there was to tell, and she is far more capable of taking care of herself than her mother was when she got married.

Of the cruelty of denying a young girl the innocent pleasures that belong to her time of life, I need not speak. Surely any woman must indeed have forgotten her girlhood days who does not remember how her feet ached to dance; how she felt that not to be invited to some party would be such a blasting disappointment that she could not possibly survive it; how she thrilled over the attention of some callow youth; how an ice cream soda was the nectar of the gods if drunk with some drugstore cowboy that all the girls were crazy about; what bliss overflowed her as she gazed on the gallery with a bunch of other kids of her own age.

These days of rapture never come back, and to have missed them is to have missed the joy of living for which nothing can atone. So I beg fathers and mothers to have a heart and not to keep poor little Polly and Mamie and Sadie and Jane sitting at home sucking their thumbs and breaking their little hearts because they cannot have dates and the good times that the other girls are having.

And remember this, fathers and mothers: There is a technique in handling boys that a girl has to acquire early if she ever learns it at all, and if you shut your flapper daughters off from all association with boys in their teens you are going to have old maids left on your hands. And how will you like that?

Horoscope

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1932

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary government.

While this configuration continues routine affairs will be least perilous. The early morning may be disturbing to industry, causing restlessness and discouragement to workers, but the influence soon passes. There is a fairly promising sign for merchandising. The stars appear to encourage small business ventures. In the changed order of things the trend toward wealth will be most favorable to the rising generation and not promising for the return to power of those who have formerly possessed millions, the seers prophesy. New fortunes are to be built up on the ruins of old enterprises, the seers prophesy, but the young will profit.

Again astrologers prognosticate great interest in religious movements. Warning is given that false prophets will arise. Spiritualistic phenomena will be often mentioned in the press of Europe and America, it is forecast, and exploration of occult powers will be undertaken.

The total eclipse of the sun, the thirty-first of this month, is held to presage better conditions for workers, but much discontent among taxpayers.

Russia comes under a sway making for great industrial development and increased ambitions for naval power, the seers prophesy.

Persons whose birthdate is it has the augury of a year of more or less struggle in which success will be gained through wise planning and hard work.

Children born on this day probably will be much concerned regarding the welfare of their fellow men. Artists as well as philanthropists belong to this sign.

James Monroe Taylor, a president of Vassar College, was born on this day, 1848. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Caroline Gallup Reed, 1821, educator; Arthur Fitzwilliam Tait, 1819, noted painter.

Many Flags At Ottawa, For Conference Groups

Canada, Having No Distinctive Ensign, Uses Britain's; Delegates Hear of Bachelor Taxes Vs. Rolling Pins

It is a field day at Capital Hill for waiters at the Chateau Laurier as they serve 2,500 meals in a few hours.

By ARCHIE WILLS
Times Staff Correspondent

Press Gallery, Ottawa, Aug. 4.—There has been considerable comment here about Canada's flag. The Union Jack is waving itself in the breeze, but there is nothing distinctive of Canada, and some of the delegates apparently expected to see a different flag flying from the flagpoles, for they have asked: "Where is Canada's flag?"

One of those who popped the question was Sir George Schuster, who is a member of the council of the Governor-General in India, and one of the prominent delegates at the Imperial Economic Conference.

"I have wondered where is Canada's distinctive flag," said Sir George. "Of course I like to see the Union Jack."

ALL THERE BUT CANADA'S
When Sir George was asked if he thought the Dominion was less loyal because they had flags of their own, he replied: "Not at all, but I like the Union Jack."

The fleet of flashy limousines at the disposal of the delegates all fly distinctive flags from their radiator caps.

South Africa's new flag, a tri-color with a small Union Jack in the white, is there as well as India's, which has a gold emblem in the center of the Union Jack, so are Australia's and New Zealand's. Canada's cars fly the Union Jack, just the same as England's.

Something a little distinctive of Canada flying from a flagpole would look just as well as the maple leaf which members of the Olympic team are carrying on their jerseys at Los Angeles. The British Olympic team is wearing a miniature Union Jack as its emblem.

Much interest has been taken in the reference made by Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates in his opening speech to New Zealand's tax on bachelors. The Ottawa critics remark: "A similar tax in Canada would give Messrs. Bennett and Mackenzie King the choice of paying more taxes or dodging rolling pins."

The editor who wrote that must live like our tax collector, for it is not likely that either Mr. Bennett or Mr. King, or for that matter, Mr. Beatty of the C.P.R., and a host of other good-looking bachelors would be prepared to change their habits.

If it were only rolling pins the married man had to dodge these days, life wouldn't be so bad, but when you add the bill collector, the insurance salesman, who always tells you how well you should provide for your family after you have gone and that ever increasing army of tax-collectors, there are not many roses left for dad to pick.

However, we will not know until the next budget is brought down in the House of Commons whether or not Mr. Bennett intends to tax himself and his family. But anyway, this suggestion is passed on to Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance in British Columbia, who is looking for new sources of revenue. I do not doubt that he will see it in his next budget as Premier Tomin seems to be having a hard time settling up with the Dominion Government here.

British Columbia has not got to find money somewhere so let the bachelors be our sacrifice.

R. B. Bennett is pretty round. He carries his weight well and seems to be a front runner. That is the race horse, R. B. Bennett; I do not mean the Canadian Premier. Lady Houston, who is noted for her burning patriotism, named one of her colts after Mr. Bennett and the thoroughbred just recently won the North Derby at Newcastle, England. This feat caused one of the Old Country papers to remark that it might prove a good omen for the Imperial Press Conference. Mr. Bennett is chairman of the conference and he is giving all the delegates a good time, so they and everyone hopes he will be able to get the conference down in front a winner.

Feeding the multitude in Ottawa is quite a job. At the Chateau Laurier they serve between 2,000 and 2,500 meals between noon and 8 o'clock in the evening. It is a regular field day for waiters, 125 of them being employed. They are dressed in complete white uniforms with thin mauve stripes down the trouser legs and around the cuffs, with mauve shoulder straps. Most of them are stocky French-Canadians.

The kitchen is an acre in extent and eighty-seven cooks and attendants are kept on the hustle to prepare the food for the guests.

The cooks in vestments of spotless white and crowned with traditional high white caps preside majestically as dainties mature over gas ranges, while above their heads gleam rows of shining copper pots and pans; swift-fingered girls daintily arrange salads and assorted fruit dishes in front of a battery of refrigerators; and waiters slide softly and ceaselessly through the aisles assembling the dinners to be carried above.

Through the kitchens at luncheon and dinner hours are the scene of almost feverish activity, but little noise enters into the proceedings, save for the sizzling dishes on trays, and the occasional clatter of china-ware from the dishwashing room. Orders are swiftly given in an ordinary tone of voice and filled with silent rapidity.

All the edibles, including those sent to the private rooms of guests, the main dining-room, the grill-room and the cafeteria are cooked in the central kitchen, and despatched to their destinations through separate entrances. Every dish which leaves outward-bound is checked over and examined by a staff of cashiers.

Efficiency is written all over the design of the kitchens which follows to the letter the old saying about "a place for everything, and everything in its place."

Commanding interest equal to that of the kitchens themselves is the huge larder and systems of refrigeration which keep the food in perfect condition. Choice cuts of prime western beef hang in tiered ranks in a refrigerator the size of two large rooms; and poultry of all descriptions are stored in a separate compartment. Salmon from Gaspé and the Atlantic Coast lie in temperatures equal to the gulf waters, and butchers stand in readiness to meet any demands from above the stairs.

During the last week, many visitors from all parts of the empire, particularly the feminine guests, have inspected the Chateau kitchens and seen with surprise and admiration, the manner in which the task of feeding the multitude is fulfilled.

NEW ROAD IS OPENED

Reeve Crouch and Alderman Worthington at Mount Douglas Ceremony

Troubles attending the construction of the new cut-off road at Mount Douglas Park, which was the subject for a royal commission of inquiry during construction, were forgotten yesterday evening at a happy scene when Reeve William Crouch of Saanich and Alderman John Worthington of Victoria performed the official opening.

A happy picnic crowd surrounded the platform at the beginning of the road for the brief but interesting dedication. Reeve Crouch presided and introduced the member of the Victoria-Saanich Board of Parks and Recreation, who, he said, had taken a keen interest in the development of Mount Douglas Park as a playground.

Alderman Worthington spoke on behalf of Mayor Leeming, who is absent from the city. "I am glad," he said, "that we have such a happy audience. We want our citizens to enjoy our playgrounds and to be happy to make use of them."

He referred to the way in which Victoria and Saanich each contributed funds to the committee, which supervised the playground areas in the district and spoke of the interest of both municipalities and Premier Tomin in Mount Douglas.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT
"The Premier commended us on this roadway when we were harshly criticized," he said. "Now it is finished and the wonderful improvement is apparent. The future we hope to put down outdoor shuffleboards for your enjoyment. Come out here any time and hold your singings and sit in front of that big open fireplace over there and forget your cares."

In conclusion he said he would like his friend, Reeve Crouch, to do something about cleaning up the Saanich end of Memorial Avenue, improving the entrance to the park.

Reeve Crouch also made a brief reference to the inquiry on the road. "As you know, we had serious difficulties in constructing this road. In fact, a royal commission was set up to put down outdoor shuffleboards for your enjoyment. Come out here any time and hold your singings and sit in front of that big open fireplace over there and forget your cares."

ELIMINATES DANGER
The reeve pointed out that by shutting off the section of the old road along the beach, the waterfront a large element of danger has been eliminated. The park has 360 acres, the majority of which is heavily timbered, but the reeve said that the reeve said it was the intention to follow the English style in developing the park, leaving just enough trees to give plenty of shade and growing smooth grass beneath.

"We will make it a beauty spot in keeping with the majority of our parks," he said, "and we hope everyone will make good use of it."

The reeve then cut the ribbon at the beginning of the road and declared it officially open.

The programme for the evening, which started at 8:30 o'clock with a basket picnic, included selections by the Victoria Girls' Band under F. T. Highfield and community singing led by Frank L. Tupman.

Mr. Hinchliffe has issued a statement correcting reports given out from his office on Tuesday to the effect that there could be no election while the new list was being compiled, which would be until November 29.

It is now discovered that if an election were forced before that date the old voters' list in Saanich could be used. Mr. Hinchliffe announces.

Following the announcement of the cancellation order, D. Pattullo, B.C. Liberal leader, went to the Parliament Buildings, where he was assured that the government was under no misconception as regards the new list. It was explained that the old Saanich list blocking a general election could be used, and where affidavits had been destroyed, the returning officer could take an oath from the applicant for a ballot that he is the person named on the list.

The machinery in the act has been repeatedly used in isolated instances, where single affidavits have been lost.

Mr. Hinchliffe pointed out that the sections act provides for use of the old voters' list when an election is called before a new list is compiled.

Last session power to cancel any voters' list was transferred from the Legislature to the provincial executive. The report of no election being possible this year was based on cancellation of the Saanich voters' list Tuesday by order in council due to the original list being burned by a mistake, it was explained. The new list will take five or six weeks to compile. Then they must be posted for thirty days before a court of revision is held. Then it is stated, forty-two days must pass before an election may be held. The fact that the old list stands until a new one is compiled was overlooked, hence the erroneous report.

Mr. Hinchliffe said that, however, no election was in prospect.

Green Mill Defeat Elks To Keep Close To Sons

Capture Game When Elks Boot Ball In Disastrous Inning

Antlered Nine Has Terrible Time in Fourth, and Five Errors and Four Hits Give Cafemen Six Runs and Senior League Ball Game 7 to 3; Holden Holds Elks to Four Hits; Bobby Love Leads Hitters With Perfect Average

LEAGUE STANDING

	W.	L.	Pct.
Sons of Canada	9	5	.643
Green Mill	8	5	.615
Elks	7	8	.467
Tillamooks	4	10	.286

Scoring six runs in the fourth inning, when the Elks proceeded to put on a comedy of errors, the Green Mill registered a 7 to 3 victory over the antlered tribe in the Senior Amateur Baseball League game at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday evening. The packed stand witnessed a good ball game, except for the one inning, when the Elks booted the ball all over the lot.

The victory puts the Green Mill right back on the heels of the league leading Sons of Canada and tightens up the race for the city championship. To-morrow evening the Sons will clash with the Tillamooks.

Members of the Elks' infield turned in their worst performance of the season. The usual reliable Norm Forbes had a bad night, three errors being scored against him, while Minnie at second base and catcher Tommy Bowden were nearly as bad with two apiece.

Leo Holden hurled for the Green Mill, and held the Elks to four hits. He struck out six and walked five. "Doc" Webster opposed him, and pitched good ball, but his support was poor. He allowed eight hits and walked two.

The Green Mill presented a revamped team owing to injuries. Dunn replaced Steel at first base, while Brousseau took Bouson's position at shortstop. The two substitutes both turned in good performances.

LOVE HITS WELL

Bobby Love, Green Mill second baseman, had a great night at the plate, with three hits in four times at bat for a perfect average.

A fast double play pulled the Green Mill out of a bad hole in the first inning. Dunn, Elks' lead-off man was given a walk. Minnie bunted and Dunn bobbled the play at first base, the ball rolling to the outfield and Dunn, after reaching third, tried to score but was thrown out at the plate. Dunn-to-Bridgewood. Minnie, in the meantime, had continued to second and then attempted to make third only to be caught. Bridgewood to Nex. The game was held up for a few minutes while Bridgewood revived after being bumped hard at the plate by Dunn. The catcher was blocking the plate.

In the second inning the Green Mill snared a one-run lead. With one batter retired Stickney walked, stole second and went to third on catcher Bowden's overthrow. The ball going to the outfield, Stickney scored on Dunn's fly out to Cummins in centre field.

Nex's error with two away allowed the Elks to tie the score in the fourth. Dunn worked Holden for his second straight walk. He was sacrificed to second by Minnie and advanced to third on Forbes' ground-out to Brousseau. Dunn scored when Nex bobbled Cummins's grounder. Cummins was out stealing second. Bridgewood to Love.

The fourth inning saw the Elks' infield crack wide open and five errors and four hits gave the Green Mill six runs and a strangle hold on the game. Bridgewood started the procession by reaching first when Minnie juggled his easy grounder. Bridgewood stole second and another overthrow by Bowden advanced him to third. Holden's hit to left-field scored Bridgewood. Holden was credited with a hit but it looked like outfielder McKenzie could have made the catch with a little extra effort. Stickney singled to right field, Dunn grounded to Minnie who threw out Stickney at second but Belcher missed Forbes's throw to first in an effort to make a double killing and Holden scored. Nex grounded to Forbes and the shortstop threw him to first. Dunn crossing the plate. Another error by Forbes gave Easter a life at first and Nex scored. Love singled through second and stole second. Thomas's hit to right field scored Easter and Love. Thomas was out stealing second. Brousseau grounded to Webster.

M'LARNIN TO SEE ACTION

Vancouver Welterweight Meets Lou Brouillard at New York To-night

New York, Aug. 4.—Jimmy McLarnin, belting beauty from Vancouver, returns to the fight scene to-night after an absence of almost a year to engage Lou Brouillard, former welterweight champion, in a ten-round duel at the Yankee Stadium, that brings a new figure into the Metropolitan fight promoting field.

The match is the first at the local ball parks under the direction of Tim Mara, race track devotee, magnate of professional football, and courtroom foe of Gene Tunney, with whom he already has split decisions in a $500,000 suit to recover 10 per cent of the former heavyweight champion's earnings.

McLarnin has not fought since he whipped Billy Petrolle here last summer to take the odd match in a series of three, and in Brouillard, rugged, clouting left-hander from Worcester, Mass., he meets a southpaw for the first time in his career. Brouillard is expected to scale 147, outweighing McLarnin about four pounds.

Campbell received quite a few points from Don Harrison and won out, 7-5, 6-2, while Norrington, also on the right end of the handicap, eliminated Victor Smith in a two-hour match, 10-12, 6-2, 6-2.

In the men's scratch doubles, the good looking team of Harrison and Renwick won a great match from Smith and Andy Pitkethley, 3-6, 6-3, 14-12. The losers led 5-0 in the last set, but did not strike their stride again until Harrison and Renwick had pulled up.

Ted Lyons Pitches And Bats White Sox To Ten-inning Win

Veteran Hurler Plays Star Role in 3 to 2 Victory of Chicago Over New York Yankees; Holds League Leaders to Six Hits and Scores Tying Run in Eighth; Detroit Scores 2 to 1 Win Over Washington in Only Other Major League Tilt

Ted Lyons, who in ten seasons of serving up right-hand pitching for the Chicago White Sox, has pitched some great balls only to run into a succession of tough games, had to take things into his own hands yesterday to pull out a 3 to 2 decision over the New York Yankees. It was a ten-inning duel with Charley Ruffing.

Going into the eighth Ted was trailing 1 to 2, although he had given only six hits. Lyons squared the count by cracking out a double and coming home on a sacrifice by Funk and Hayes' long fly. He pitched no-hit ball for the next two frames and Lu Blue came to his rescue in the tenth with another double that led to the winning run.

The only other game on the major league schedule yesterday saw another

The Keystones promptly wound up their affairs in Pennsylvania by dropping a twilight and night double-header to the Montreal Royals, 11 to 7 and 10 to 4. This dropped Reading to seventh place a half game behind Jersey City, and leaving the Royals only a game and a half behind Buffalo.

The afternoon portion of the league schedule, consisting of three double-headers, Buffalo-Baltimore, Toronto-Newark and Rochester-Jersey City, was rained out.

THE NEW IMPERIAL SUPER-REFINING PROCESS MAKES THE PUREST OIL EVER SOLD FOR AUTOMOBILE USE

After five years of research, of experiment, of development and of testing, Imperial Oil scientists have perfected the New Marvelube. They found it necessary to develop a new super-refining process to produce it. For ordinary refining methods could not rid motor oil of those compounds which cause the formation of carbon, gum and sludge in modern motors. Q The New Marvelube is free from those troublesome compounds. It is purer than motor oil has ever been made before. It is clean, clear, golden. You can see through it. Q The New Marvelube is 100% lubricant with none of those troublesome extras. It means a clean, clear, smooth-running motor. No other oil is pure enough for your car.

Whether you change oil every 500 miles or every 2,500 miles, you will get better results with the New Marvelube. Most Automobile manufacturers recommend changing oil every 500 miles because oil gets dirty in use and accumulates road grime and other injurious substances.

"In one part of British Columbia there is no depression apparent, and everybody is busy, happy and with lots to eat." That fortunate district is the Okanagan, said Prof. R. S. Baker yesterday on his return from a tour of the interior.

YOUNG STAR AT CAPITOL

"When a Feller Needs a Friend" Stars J. Cooper and Charles "Chic" Sale

Jackie Cooper in "When a Feller Needs a Friend" opens to-day at the Capitol Theatre, with the popular child actor and Charles "Chic" Sale in co-starring roles. The various adventures of Limpy, a boy whose leg braces makes him an outcast, and his final fight to overcome a disastrous inferiority complex make this a picture which it is said will bring laughs and tears to parents and children alike.

Whereas the boy's parents, with the best intentions in the world, blunder of Limpy in his self-abasement, the old family friend, played by Sale, has a kinder conception of what will make a man out of Limpy. It is his effort to teach the boy to protect himself from the taunts of the small-town bores which eventually brings about the picture's dramatic climax in which Limpy proves his mettle.

The picture is based on William Johnston's novel, "Limpy." Supporting roles are filled by Ralph Graves, Dorothy Peterson, Andy Shuford, Helen Parrish, Donald Macdonald, and Oscar Apfel. The production was directed by Harry Pollard, who scored with "Shipmates" and "The Prodigal."

ROMANO STARS JOAN BLONDELL

It was during the shooting of "Union Depot," the big First National picture featuring Doug Fairbanks Jr., and Joan Blondell, that the picture-makers conceived the idea of whiling away the tedious hours between scenes by exchanging the idea of queer mistakes connected with the movie.

Some pretty tall tales were told, but little Ruth Hall capped the climax with this one:

"Oh, let's not do so cheaply. The assistant director begged, 'let's get some more girls and have a DOZEN graces!'"

English Picture Opens To-morrow

Leslie Howard by his masterly performance in the British Paramount picture, "Reserved For Ladies," achieves the triumph of being the greatest comedian on either stage or screen. Although a great favorite on the New York stage, he is easily the most distinguished English actor in his special roles. He recently refused a contract at Hollywood that was a fortune, but he turned it down on the ground that he is more interested in his work as an actor than in making money. He will be remembered for his fine work in "Outward Bound," "A Free Soul," with Norma Shearer and with Ann Harding in "He Who Sings." He prefers to play in British pictures, and his role in "Reserved For Ladies," which will open a six-day run at the Empire Theatre to-morrow is one of the best he has ever had.

He plays the part of a head waiter at one of the smartest hotels in London, and falls in love with a pretty young patron, who is en route to the Swiss Alps. He decides to follow her and pose as a prince. While in Switzerland he is recognized by royalty with whom he is much in favor, but who will not give him away.

VETERANS OPPOSE THORNTON BONUS

Cowichan Legion Protests Retiring Allowance When Veterans' Pensions Cut

Duncan, Aug. 4.—Economic conditions being the reason given by the Dominion Cabinet for decrease in the allowances and pensions to veterans, the Cowichan branch of the Canadian Legion on Monday evening went on record as viewing with apprehension suggestions appearing in the press that Sir Henry Thornton, retiring president of the C.V.R., be granted a bonus of $100,000. In view of the threatened economy in veterans' pensions and allowances the branch will oppose Sir Henry Thornton being granted any bonus or pension.

Cowichan district is being well represented at the rally and re-union of Vancouver Island ex-service men at Nanaimo to-day.

The picnic held recently at Crofton by the Cowichan branch of the legion proved a great success. Venustus Bay, Salt Spring Island, was suggested for next year, to enable members to get acquainted with the members and ladies of the Salt Spring Island branch of the legion. Comrade LeQuene, chairman, with Comrades Burrows, Vickers, A. Castle, H. Simmons and R. Watson, were thanked for making the picnic so successful.

Members were asked to bear in mind September 1, when the Governor-General and Lady Beasborough will visit Duncan and make an inspection.

Sports and dance arrangements for Labor Day were reported to be well in hand by Comrade T. Dunkley, chairman of the sports, and Comrade B. Burrows, chairman of the dance committee.

EMPIRE THEATRE

George Arliss has a peculiar ability of identifying himself with the characters he portrays on stage or screen. This was with "Widowmaker" to such an extent that more people in the world think of Diarrail as looking like Arliss than as he actually did.

The same thing is true in "Old English," the famous Galsworthy drama which Arliss has made into a Vitaphone picture for Warner Brothers and which is showing at the Empire Theatre to-day.

In the original Galsworthy story Sybilus Heythorpe, which is the real name of "Old English," was described as a tremendous man, very fat, very red of face and very short of breath. But Arliss made "Old English" what he is to-day in the great picture by that name and he is not at all like the original described by the author.

Douglas Fairbanks has a strictly modern, fast-moving, dashing role in his picture for United Artists, "Reaching For the Moon," now showing at the Empire Theatre to-day. The humor and charm of Bebe Daniels are given full leeway in her capacity as feminine lead.

"HIT THE DECK" AT PLAYHOUSE

"Bigger and better"—to borrow an ancient and often abused movie slogan—briefly describes Radio Pictures' version of the popular stage success, "Hit the Deck," now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre.

Although the Vincent Youmans musical comedy established box office records throughout the United States, the stage offering could only suggest the immense scope, color and narrative value of "Hit the Deck" in its present celluloid form.

"The 'Hallelujah' song is an example of what is meant. It was a solo on the stage; in Radio Pictures' interpretation it becomes a lengthy sequence—a negro spiritualist meeting which involved 100 negro vocalists, dancers and players, and introduced to film fans the colorful Marguerita Padula, a black-face singer whose voice has a starting range of four octaves!

The Columbia Theatre is showing Tim McCoy's latest western for Columbia, "The Riding Tornado." As usual Tim McCoy has been supplied with a story that is packed to the bursting point with thrilling highlights. Fast gun play, bronco-busting, stampeding, flat fighting and a dangerous run-in with horse thieves are some of them.

The Shirley Grey, Wallace MacDonald, Wheeler Oakman, Bud Osborne, Lala McKee and Montague Love are featured in the supporting cast. D. Ross Lederman directed.

DOMINION THEATRE

"I, Jerry, Take Thee, Joan," starting first-novel of Cleo Lucas, short story author and Hollywood syndicate writer, has been filmed by Paramount as co-starring vehicle for Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March.

In Miss Lucas's story, studio experts immediately recognized dramatic qualities of a high order. It has been made into a picture drama in which Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March find an admirable vehicle for their superior dramatic talents.

The picture is presented under the title, "Merrily We Go to Hell" now being shown at the Dominion Theatre. It dramatizes the story of married life in a modern young group of irresponsible. The novel became one of the best sellers of the last year, and the picture closely follows the dramatic episodes of the original story.
